later which would be Friday, April 17, 1970. At that time Fernandez told her that her son was not being held a prisoner in North Vietnam. Fernandez told Mrs. [REDACTED] that he had visited prison camps in the area of Hanoi and talked to a few prisoners. Fernandez would not furnish much information to Mrs. [REDACTED] concerning his trip to North Vietnam and would not furnish information concerning individuals he had contacted in North Vietnam. 62-1-872-2

Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that shortly thereafter her daughter-in-law, [REDACTED] received information apparently from COLIFAM that she, Mrs. [REDACTED] had left Laos before Mrs. [REDACTED] had been given information concerning her son not being held a prisoner of war in North Vietnam. Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that this was incorrect and then she sent a telegram to Cora Weiss of COLIFAM stating that Mrs. [REDACTED] had stayed in Laos until the return of Fernandez from North Vietnam and that Fernandez had told her that he, Fernandez, had no information concerning her son. 62-

She advised that this was the only contact she has had with COLIFAM. Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that she has not received any letters or mail from COLIFAM and that she has not been harassed or cajoled by COLIFAM. 62-1-872-2

 Mrs. [REDACTED] Iowa, advised her husband is a Navy flier and has been a captive in North Vietnam about three and one-half years. b2c

[REDACTED]
 The letter from her husband did arrive a few days before Christmas, and was mailed at San Francisco or a west coast city. b2c

This is the first contact she had with the Committee of Liaison. Enclosed with her husband's letter was a circular that may have been signed by CORA WEISS. It explained the Committee had been in Hanoi and brought back her husband's letter. NY

Mrs. [REDACTED] has received two more letters from her husband through this Committee. One letter arrived about April 21, 1970, and the third letter arrived September 18, 1970. The last two letters were mailed from New York City. Each letter was accompanied by a letter or circular from this Committee, and she recalls the names of MADELINE DUCKLES appeared on one of the documents. NY

Mrs. [REDACTED] explained the first letter she received from her husband was like a bolt out of the clear blue sky and it was the first word she received concerning him since he was captured. b2c

Mrs. [REDACTED] has received only the three letters from the Committee. She has not been contacted by them in any form except to receive her husband's letters. She has not been asked to contribute anything. b2c

Dear Mrs. [REDACTED] b7c

We received your letter last week asking that we seek information about your husband, and we have cabled Hanoi with an inquiry.

Word may not come for a while, but we will be in touch with you whenever it arrives. As the enclosed Information Sheet explains, the Vietnamese have said that they will respond to requests such as the one we have made for you to the extent possible for them. If your husband indeed did not survive his crash, then, it is necessary to understand that they may not have word on him. But, as I said, we will certainly contact you as soon as any news that does come arrives.

We understand how difficult this situation must be for you, and we hope we can be of help in finding out information for you.

Sincerely,

Maggie Geddes

Functions of the Committee

The Committee of Liaison seeks to facilitate communication between servicemen imprisoned in North Vietnam and their families in the United States. The Committee receives letters from servicemen and forwards them to their families through the domestic mails. It also forwards letters to North Vietnam at the request of families. Families are, of course, still free to send letters directly but should not the correct address for both letters and packages:

Name of serviceman, serial number

Camp of Detention of U.S. Pilots Captured in the D.R.V.

Hanoi, Democratic Republic of Vietnam

via Moscow, U.S.S.R.

staff

Captured servicemen may receive one letter a month and one package (not over six pounds in weight) every other month. The Committee does not forward packages. It is suggested that letters sent to the Committee for forwarding be sealed and that stamps be enclosed (not affixed) as letters are forwarded in packets.

The Committee is only able to be of help with respect to men who have been shot down over North Vietnam.

The Committee also is able to request information regarding the status of men thought to have been shot down over North Vietnam and captured there. For such inquiries the Committee needs to have the individual's service number, and any available information as to when and where he was shot down. With respect to such requests the Committee would expect to receive a letter to his family if the individual is being held in North Vietnam. If the individual is known to be dead or if the North Vietnamese have no information regarding him, the Committee expects to receive that word to the extent possible. In any case the Committee will communicate with the family concerned as soon as it receives word. In this way we expect that, as Xuan Thuy, head of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, has said, gradually all families of servicemen held in North Vietnam will hear from their relatives.

Background

The Committee of Liaison has been established in response to an initiative created by the North Vietnamese and is an extension of previous effort. It is not in any sense representing the government of North Vietnam.

Since 1965 there have been a number of meetings between people of Vietnam (from both the North and the National Liberation Front of South Vietnam) and Americans who oppose the war. On three separate occasions representatives of the American anti-war movement have gone to Hanoi and have returned with released servicemen. On one occasion an American peace activist went to Phnom Penh, Cambodia, to receive three American soldiers who were released by the National Liberation Front. Americans visiting Hanoi have frequently carried letters to captured servicemen at the request of their families and they have brought back letters when they have returned to the United States. On several occasions such visitors from the peace movement have met with captured pilots in Hanoi.

The Committee

The Committee of Liaison believes that the safe return of U.S. service men captured in North Vietnam and the half-million others that the United States maintains in South Vietnam, Laos, Thailand, and aboard naval vessels can only come with a decision on the part of the U.S. government to completely withdraw from Vietnam. Because of this conviction, we who are serving on this Committee will also continue our efforts aimed at immediate and complete withdrawal of all U.S. armed forces and weapons.

As individuals Committee members are active in a variety of organizations and groups committed to ending the war: the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, The Conspiracy, Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, U.S. Inter-religious Committee on Peace, Fellowship of Reconciliation, Newsreel, Women Against Daddy Warbucks, Lawyers Committee on Vietnam, and Women Strike for Peace.

The Committee of Liaison is entirely dependent on donations from individuals and organizations, and welcomes any gifts to sustain its work.

RE: COLIFAM

62c 801-81-2
Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she has not had any further correspondence with COLIFAM.

62c Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that the only other time she has contacted any organization or individual concerning the location of her husband, [REDACTED] was during October, 1969, when she wrote a letter to the Peace Delegate for North Vietnam during the Paris conferences. [REDACTED] said she received no answer to this letter.

62c Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she has been advised by very close friends who are associated with the military service that she should have no further contact with any organization which proposes that they can assist her in locating her husband. Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she will respect this advice and hereafter she will rely upon information received from the USAF.

62c On October 22, 1970, Mrs. [REDACTED] Hawaii, advised that she has never contacted COLIFAM and in turn COLIFAM has never contacted her.

62c Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that approximately three months ago she did direct an inquiry to the International War Prisoners Rescue League, Inc., which was located at 1298 Kapiolani Boulevard, Honolulu. Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she never did receive a reply from this organization. Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she learned of the International War Prisoners Rescue League, Inc., through a newspaper clipping which appeared in the "Honolulu Star-Bulletin," a daily Honolulu newspaper. Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that it is her understanding that this organization is no longer active.

62c Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she regretted that she directed an inquiry to the International War Prisoners Rescue League, Inc., because it was contrary to the advice furnished to her by the USAF. Mrs. [REDACTED] advised that she never forwarded any financial aid to COLIFAM or to the International War Prisoners Rescue League, Inc. 62c 130 1-81-2

Re: Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam (COLIFAM)

An article captioned, "Family in Waterford Awaits POW Return", which appeared in the January 28, 1970 issue of "The Pontiac Press", a daily newspaper published in Pontiac, Michigan, of general circulation, reveals in part that Air Force Major Earl Cobeil is somewhere in North Vietnam in a Prisoner of War (POW) camp, according to Mrs. Earl Cobeil, the wife of Major Cobeil of Waterford Township, Michigan, who reported she had not even received a letter from Major Cobeil since November 5, 1967, which was the day Cobeil's plane was shot down over North Vietnam.

This article reveals that on October 10, 1969, Mrs. Cobeil was reportedly contacted by one of three American POWs released by Hanoi, one of whom had seen her husband in custody of Hanoi Military Police on the way to a POW camp.

Mrs. Cobeil revealed in this article that late in 1969 she met in Washington, D.C., with her correspondent's friends around the country who are comprised of wives of husbands also POWs.

Mrs. Cobeil was reported to have advised in this article that all she has to go on regarding her husband is word of mouth stories from the tightly knit group of wondering wives. She reported the 1400 men who are in captivity are fed pumpkin soup and two slices of bread a day with a little pig fat. The POWs are reportedly getting improper medical attention and are reportedly kept in solitary confinement, although she reportedly was not sure concerning the accuracy of that information.

[REDACTED] telephone [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] furnished the following information:

[REDACTED] became a prisoner of North Vietnam in 1966.

In December, 1969, [REDACTED] received correspondence from the Committee of Liaison with families of servicemen detained in North Vietnam (COLIFAM), 365 W. 42nd Street, New York, New York, 10036, enclosing a letter from her husband.

Subsequent to the above, [REDACTED] has received two letters from her husband through COLIFAM.

COLIFAM, by letter dated January 27, 1970, advised that letters could be forwarded to Prisoners of War (POW) in North Vietnam, via COLIFAM, and that adequate postage should be enclosed, as these letters were sent in bulk.

[REDACTED] has sent two or three letters to her husband via COLIFAM, pursuant to their letter dated January 27, 1970, however, she has received no correspondence from her husband indicating that he has received these letters.

[REDACTED] has not been personally contacted by a representative of COLIFAM, and she has not been harassed or cajoled, or in any way pressured to use the facilities of COLIFAM.

No request has been made to COLIFAM to deliver personal objects, or have her husband send to her any personal objects, via COLIFAM from North Vietnam.

COLIFAM has not revealed their contacts or sources of information in Vietnam.

[REDACTED] has no knowledge of other POW families that have been approached by COLIFAM in the manner described above.

EO 12812-67c

Mrs. [REDACTED] was contacted at her home, [REDACTED] and at the outset of the interview she was advised that it was being conducted at the direction of J. WALTER YEAGLEY, concerning the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam (COLIFAM). She stated she has been contacted by COLIFAM on several occasions during the past year, although this contact has been through correspondence and telephone and she has never been contacted personally by any representative of this group. She stated that all of her recent correspondence from her husband, who is a prisoner in North Vietnam, has come through COLIFAM and that she received two letters from him through this source on the previous Saturday.

Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that she has been told names of persons who have called her but she resents this organization very much and has forgotten the names of the individuals who have contacted her. Just this past weekend she received a call from a person whose name she cannot recall, asking what she thought about the Committee and whether she would recommend the caller personally getting in touch with the Committee in an effort to help her husband.

Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that she did not know the individual who called and that she has no way of determining whether the caller is attempting to obtain her thoughts regarding the organization or is sincere in believing that this organization may be of assistance. She stated that she has also received a number of crank calls from various people telling her that her husband is a war criminal and should be punished and other remarks to this effect.

She stated that she resents very much the fact that she cannot receive mail from her husband except through this group. Their transmittal letters with his correspondence imply that his mail is being held up by United States Government Customs and other officials, which she knows to be incorrect.

She stated that COLIFAM has offered to transmit her letters to her husband but that she has never corresponded with him in this fashion. As a result, he receives very little, if any, of her correspondence to him. She stated that there has never been an instance where personal objects were delivered to her or an offer was made to transmit a personal object to her husband.

In regard to the operation of the organization, Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that the organization has indicated that their members go to North Vietnam as private citizens and the organization urges that mail to prisoners of war be sent with them and transmitted through them, indicating that their interest was for humanitarian causes.

Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that the only other two persons that she knows who have been contacted by COLIFAM are Mrs. [REDACTED] who currently resides at [REDACTED] California, and Mrs. [REDACTED] residing in [REDACTED] California.

Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that correspondence from COLIFAM to her has been largely literature regarding the organization, which urged her to use the organization for transmittal of letters to her husband and from her husband.

Mrs. [REDACTED] stated that she would be willing to cooperate and to testify if information at her disposal should be needed at a later date.

Mrs. [REDACTED]
[REDACTED] California, advised on October 6, 1970 that she is the wife of [REDACTED] a prisoner of war. She stated that she has not been contacted personally by anyone associated with captioned organization, Committee of Liaison With Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam (COLIFAM), but that she did receive a letter from her husband together with a letter of transmittal from the organization. She acknowledged receipt of the letter and has had no further contact. She has not received any personal objects from her husband through the organization. No representations were made concerning her husband or information concerning him, and she is not aware of any other families approached in a similar manner.

Mrs. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Illinois, wife of United States Air Force [REDACTED]

advised as follows on

October 7, 1970

Her husband was listed missing in action in mid 1967 and for over two years she had no information as to his fate. She maintained her home, cared for a five-year-old daughter, and taught school in the elementary school system during that period of time.

On December 17, 1969, she received at her Post Office Box in [REDACTED] Illinois, a letter from Ethel Taylor, 1505 Ashford Way, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, written on stationery of Women Strike For Peace, 30 South 12th Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. In this letter were enclosed two letters dated November 19, 1969 and November 26, 1969 from her husband, [REDACTED] in Vietnam.

In response to a telephone call by Mrs. [REDACTED] Ethel Taylor informed her that she had just returned from North Vietnam where officials stated they were getting ready to mail letters to relatives of prisoners of war in the United States and asked her if she would personally deliver such letters which she agreed to do. She advised the conversation lasted approximately four minutes, and she has had no further contact with Ethel Taylor, but subsequent letters received approximately one every other month consisting of about six lines written by her husband, would be identified as being relayed by the Committee of Liaison With Families Of Servicemen Detained In North Vietnam (COLIFAM), New York, New York.

She advised that she has had no personal contact with any individual associated with that organization.
